DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oil and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any one, however delicate to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases: If they are not satisfied with its healing properties the money will be cheerfully refunded by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night. It will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhoea, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe toothache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gums at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe parts affected morning and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut or gall use your Panacea, apply the Pain Panacea, it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

FIELD'S STEAMED OYSTERS!

MR. A. FIELD, whose Oysters have long enjoyed the highest reputation in this market, has recently invented an entirely new process of packing which possesses every advantage over the one hitherto employed. It so preserves the natural flavor, freshness and shape of the Oyster that they may be either Stewed, Fried, Scolloped or Fancy-Roasted—in fact cooked in any manner adapted to those just taken from the shell. They will not be broken into pieces by land travel, however lengthy, and will retain their sweetness, after the can is cut, longer than secured by any other method.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it, ye sons of the brave
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

TUESDAY MORNING, DEC 2, 1862

THE ELECTION —The election for Chief Engineer and two Assistants of the Portland Fire Department passed off yesterday very quietly and orderly About 130 votes were polled of which Joe Webber received 82 and William Dellinger 45 Joseph Webber was elected Chief and A C Ripley 1st Assistant, and John L Thompson 2d Assistant the latter two gentlemen were elected without opposition After the announcement of the result, the several fire bells rang out their merry peals of acquiescence, and notwithstanding that some feeling was manifest during the day among the "boys" as to results, yet all seemed to evince a cheerful and manly disposition to submit to the will of the majority We are gratified to know that no disturbance or violent conduct was manifested by any one, much to the credit and good name of all concerned

WASHINGTON STREET —The grading and planking of Washington street from East Park to Front is now nearly completed, and presents a very respectable and neat appearance We are much pleased to notice this improvement, from the fact that it is a credit to the city, and we have reason to hope and expect that after seeing how much better our streets would look if all were improved in a similar manner, that in the course of a year or two more, every property holder will agree to have it done. Only think what a nice cleanly, convenient and inviting appearance the city of Portland would present if all her principal streets were graded and improved and broad, neat side walks were laid down in the same manner as Washington street The cash value of every foot of ground would increase at least four fold, besides contributing greatly to the health and convenience of every citizen.

COUCH'S WHARF —We notice that the Commercial has for some time past kept a standing "Traveler's Guide" in one of its leading columns, in which the statement is made that the steamers Cowlitz and Vancouver leave and return to Couch's Wharf each day (Sundays excepted) These steamers do not touch at Couch's wharf at all The Cowlitz regularly lands at Vaughn's wharf foot of Morrison street, and the Vancouver lands at Coffin's wharf, near Pioneer Hotel Couch's wharf is a very busy place, but it by no means furnishes the only place of landing to this city There are at least half a dozen other wharves where steamers land and receive freight equally as often and quite as convenient

BIG BAR —Messrs Goldsmith Bros, had on exhibition yesterday, in their show window, corner Front and Alder, a monster bar of gold, assayed at their Assay office, which weighed two hundred and ninety six ounces, and valued at a little more than $4,600 The exhibition of such a bar is almost wicked, as we noticed more than one poor, dispirited, "strapped" individual look at it and weep Poor fellows! it is as cruel to torture their mental feelings as much so as it is their physical nature, and should'nt be done

NABBED.—Marshal Grooms nabbed two or three more hotel runners yesterday who had not the necessary papers They were brought up standing before Recorder McCoy, who mildly informed them that each had to pay a fine of ten dollars, take out a license, and not suffer themselves to be again caught in such a fix. Good advice

NO RAIN —The month of November has passed without scarcely a drop of rain Did that illustrious individual, "the oldest inhabitant," ever see such pleasant weather at this season of the year in Oregon?

HALLECK BEFORE CORINTH — A correspondent of an Eastern paper says

Every one who has examined the natural advantages of Corinth, its abattis of swamps, morasses, fallen trees, etc, in conjunction with the stupendous works of human skill will not wonder at Halleck's slow and cautious advance last Spring His plan of cutting off all communication and starving the rebels out was the only feasible one, it never could have been reduced by bombardment or assault With the improved state of defenses now, and the bountiful supply of artillery, I think no fears need be realized in regard to the rebels making another onset, much less gaining possession As long as hostilities are continued in the South, Corinth must be of great importance as the depot for military stores and base for all the offensive operations in the enemy's territory

WASHINGTON, Nov 26th —The several reports of the heads of Departments are nearly completed, with the exception of the Secretary of the Treasury which is delayed in part by the continued preparation of estimates of the War Department and other data in that connection, involving an extraordinary amount of labor

President Lincoln's Message will probably be transmitted to Congress on the first day of the session No copies will be sent out in advance it will therefore be telegraphed to the press as soon as its reading has commenced The object of this course is understood to be to prevent the premature disclosure of its contents, and to enable the President to avail himself of the latest official intelligence that may come to hand

Members of Congress are arriving by every train, and have already become numerous

Arrival of the Sierra Nevada.

Two Days Later.

At about half past seven o'clock last night express mail of Wells Fargo & Co from the steamship Sierra Nevada arrived, having been brought up from Swan Island bar by the steamer Leviathan The Sierra Nevada remained below the bar until high tide We are indebted to Wells Fargo & Co for files of California papers of 26th and 27th ult But we failed to receive a list of passengers which we regret—probably an oversight of the Purser The paper contain two days later news from the East the most important of which will be found below

NEW YORK, Nov 26 —A letter from St John's river, Florida, reports the establishment of a colony of white refugees at Port Town under Commodore Woodhull They are all Union men who have fled from their homes to avoid the rebel conscription

WASHINGTON, Nov 24 — Secretary Chase's report will undoubtedly contain an urgent recommendation supported by elaborate argument to Congress to take measures for the substitution of Government paper for bank currency, by taking the latter and making provision for the circulation through the banks of the former

The President in an interview with unconditional Union men from Kentucky yesterday, discussed the question of emancipation at length He said that he would rather die than take back a word of the proclamation of freedom and dwelt upon the advantages to the border States of his scheme for the gradual abolishment of slavery, which he urged them to bring fairly before the people They assured him that it should be done He also expressed a determination to enforce vigorous measures, and rid the State of rebel sympathizers

CHICAGO, Nov 26th —Late New York and New Orleans papers contain the speech of the rebel Gen Pemberton in taking the command of Van Dorn's army He says If England interferes in this private quarrel she will find us a united people, and will have to meet armies South as well as North

The new iron clad Passaic left New York to day on active service The Montauk will soon follow

Advices from Havana state that the French in Mexico have occupied Jalapa without resistance

The United States ship Shepard Knapp from St Helena Sound arrived about ten days since The expedition composed of her boats, completely routed the rebels on Tenwick Island, driving them up the Edisto river

A movement is on foot for despatching two or three ship loads of provisions to England, for the relief of the starving operatives in Lancashire Eminent shipping men and merchants have taken the matter in hand It is proposed to subscribe a sufficient amount and send one vessel immediately

Advices from Centreville state that the recent retirement of Sigel towards Washington, and the concentration of his forces, was a strategic movement made in view of designs on the part of Jackson to cut off his division in detail and by offensive demonstrations against Washington, to execute a powerful diversion intended to embarrass Burnside's forward movement Sigel's plan was entirely successful, and Jackson's designs were frustrated

ST LOUIS, Nov 26 —Large shipments of troops, Commissary and Quartermaster's stores are being made down the river

The main body of the rebels in the South west are reported to have retreated from the interior of Arkansas

CAIRO, Nov, 26 —An order has been issued by the Confederates in Arkansas that all cotton, both old and new, east of the White River, must be burned, The work of destruction is now going on

The expedition under Gen Hovey, which left Helena some days since, consisting of 10 transports loaded with troops, has returned to Helena The object of the expedition was to reach Little Rock all the way by river, finding, however, that the river was too low, they were compelled to return

CHICAGO Nov 27 —The New York papers say that Gen. Banks and staff are working industriously by night and day, fitting out and organizing a great expedition which will sail in a few days to strike a telling blow on some point on the Southern coast If all the troops which are now quartered at New York city and encamped at Long Island, as well as several regiments which are expected to arrive very soon, are to join the expedition it will be far more formidable than any which the Government has yet sent out

WASHINGTON, Nov 27th —The President yesterday went by special steamboat to Aquia Creek, where he was met by Gen. Burnside. He returned this morning,

FALMOUTH, Va., Nov 27 —The city of Fredericksburg is not occupied by the enemy, There is a force merely of picket guard there. Business is totally suspended, The only flag visible is a British one floating from a private residence

NASHVILLE, Nov 26 —Considerable bodies of cavalry have been hovering about our front, They were driven off by Col Kennell's cavalry yesterday The weight of military opinion continues favorable to the view that no great battle will be fought in this vicinity

A body of 1,800 rebels who were at Nolinsville, retired to Murfreesboro last night The rebels at that point are said to number 16,000, under Breckinridge, Cheatham and Withers. Buckner's corps is at and around Normandy Hardee and Polk are posted from Tullahoma to Winchester Gen Negley estimates the enemy in Middle Tennessee to be 50,000 strong Other testimony fixes their number at 40,000

Foreign News.

HALIFAX Nov 26 —The London Morning Herald bitterly denounces the non intervention policy of the British Government, and says Earl Russel's dispatch mocks the hopes and mantles the sufferings of half a million of starving laboring men The Herald then charges the British Cabinet with dastardly submission in hopes to retain the Parliamentary support of the Bright and Cobden party

The Daily News thinks Russel's answer the best that could have been made, without entering unnecessarily upon a discussion of the merits of the case and rejoices at having escaped from entangling diplomatic associations with France

The Journal de St Petersburg contains Gortchakoff's reply to Drouyn De L'Huys's note, which is in substance as follows After recalling the constant efforts of Russia in favor of reconciliation, and after recalling the constant requisite above all things, to avoid the appearance of any pressure whatever capable of changing public opinion in America or exercising the susceptibility of Nations we believe that a combined measure of the Great Powers, however conciliatory, presented in an official or officious character, would be the cause of arriving at the result opposed to pacification

"If, however, France should persist in her intention of mediation and England acquiesce instructions shall be sent to Baron Stoeckl at Washington to lend his colleagues the French and British Ministers, if not an official, at least a moral support

UPPER COLUMBIA NEWS —The Hassalo (?) G Hunt arrived at [illegible] P M last evening from the Cascades bringing [illegible] a number of passengers and [illegible] 100 pounds of gold dust per Wells Fargo & Co's Express to whom we are indebted for late copies of Walla Walla Statesman and Mountaineer We take the following items from these papers:

THE WATER DITCHES —The Oregon Steam Navigation Company have bought the water ditches at Auburn and will at once proceed to complete them. Mr Grenzebach of the Dalles has been elected President of the Ditch Company and has gone below for the purpose of bringing up funds to prosecute the work

ANOTHER TOWN.—A new town is [illegible] with [illegible] is being [illegible] in [illegible] valley [illegible] the western side of the valley [illegible] population is [illegible] emigrants who have settled there for the purpose [illegible] About 20 families have already located in the extreme [illegible] valley at a place called "The Cove"

THEFT —A veteran individual named Jas Clark, impressed with the value of Treasury Notes carried off a desk from Wils [illegible] restaurant on Wednesday night in which it is supposed was deposited two or three hundred dollars in these notes He was caught [illegible] had an examination the following day and was held to bail in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the next term of the District Court In default of bail he was [illegible] in the county jail

GRIST MILL —We learn that [illegible] have gone below for the purpose of procuring machinery to construct a grist mill in the Grand Ronde valley

NEW MINES —New mines are reported to have been discovered on a tributary of Malheur river called Catharine creek about [illegible] miles this side of Boise

THE BOISE MINES.—Miners in from Boise represent the diggings there as not differing materially from those of Powder river In convenience is experienced in many localities on account of the scarcity of water and in order to work the main diggings to good advantage it will be necessary to construct a water ditch some six miles in length The formation of a ditch company has already begun and the work of construction will commence early next spring There are now four or five hundred men in the mines, and those who have opened their claims are satisfied with their prospects

REPRESENTATIVE —Mr Wm Dennison has resigned the office of Representative of Nez Perces county, and at this late hour, the citizens are called upon to elect a man to represent their interest in the next session of the Legislature to be held at Olympia It is highly important that we should be represented in this Legislature We must choose a man who is capable and willing one who will work with a zeal for the interest of our new country We want a man who has the welfare of this portion of the Territory at heart, and one that has something at stake in our midst.—Congress must be memorialized through the Legislature, for a division of the Territory and it is for the interests of the voters to look to this matter. By a notice in another column it will be seen that an election is called for Nov 29th, Saturday next There are several candidates in the field Choose ye voters, for yourselves, and get the best man

CUTTING AFFRAY —At Lapwai on Sunday night last, Sol Wixson was severely if not mortally cut by Robt. Newell, Jr

MASON J HAGGARD —From Mr Dennee of Haggard & Dennee's Fort Bent'n Express we learn that fears are entertained for Mr Haggard who is now over due near a month He left this place about the first of October for Fort Benton, and intended to return by the first of November, A report had reached Elk City that the Indians had massacred several persons East of the mountains, among the number Mr Haggard.

DITCHING AT ELK CITY —We understand from a gentleman just down from Elk City that the Elk Creek ditch is nearly completed about twenty men being constantly employed The Red River ditch is completed and the miners are reaping a rich harvest.

SILVER LODE —A gentleman who came in from Boise a few days ago showed us some specimens of silver ore taken from the "croppings" of a supposed lode lately discovered there The specimens do not differ materially from those obtained on John Day's river and seem full of pyrites of iron, containing also more or less gold The discoverers seem sanguine that they have struck a paying lode and have sent specimens of the ore or rock to San Francisco to be assayed

LATE DISCOVERIES AT BOISE —Mr John Caviness, just in from Boise, informs us that recent discoveries have been made there which eclipse anything heretofore revealed, Mr C expresses the opinion that the Boise mines will next year prove the richest mining region in the upper country

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

PHONOGRAPHY AND PENMANSHIP.—We have been shown some beautiful specimens of penmanship and drawing, also phonographic illustration, which we have reason to believe are well executed by Mr W H Shaw, who is now stopping in this city and has opened a school of instruction in these useful and highly beneficial arts. A very favorable opportunity is now presented to the youths of our city, and in fact to every one both old and young, to acquire the art of penmanship in either common business hand writing or phonography. Mr Shaw has already enlisted quite a number in the school and we doubt not will use every exertion to instruct and benefit all. Lessons given at any seasonable hour. Rooms in Shelby's building First Street, up stairs, opposite Buchtel & Cardwell's Photographic Gallery.

WESTERN HOTEL.—The building formerly known as Taylor's Hotel on the corner of Morrison and First streets, having been lately refitted by addition of another story and the still greater addition of a second building of equal size, now presents a grand appearance, and will shortly be opened as a First class Hotel under the management of Mr S D Smith, who will spare no pains or expense to make it truly an inviting and commodious establishment.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO SANITARY FUND.—Before acknowledged—$1,134 20.

D M Field, Portland $5; David Powell $10; Thank Offering Trinity Church, Portland, Nov 27, $20. From Oregon City (additional) $48 40. TREATING OF THE NOBLE RED MAN—I ME[illegible] SERENADE—A SERENADE [illegible]

The red man of the forest was formerly a very respectful person. Justice to the noble aboregine warrants me in sayin' that orgernerly he was a majestic cuss.

At the time Chris arriv'd on these shores (I allood to Chris Columbus) the savajis was virtuous and happy. They were innocent of secession, rum, draw poker and sinfulness gin'rally. They didn't discuss the slavery question as a custom. They had no Congress, faro banks, delirium tremens, or Associated Press. Their happiness was quite good. Late suppers, dyspepsy, gas companies, ward politicians, thieves, or city cutter gals and ther mother in law[illegible] wern't known among them. No stage or gay steam boat would take passage. You couldn't have bet a coonskin with them for a barrel of gin. The female Aborygin never died of consumption because she didn't tie her waist up in whalebone things, but in loose and flowin' garments she bounded with naked feet over the hills and plains like the wild and frisky antelope. It was an unlucky moment for us when Chris set his foot onto these here shores. It would have been better for us of the present day if the Injins had given him a warm meal and sent him home ere the origin bilers. For the savajis owned the country and Columbus was a fillibuster. Cortez, Pizarro and Walker were one horse fillibusters. Columbus was a four horse team fillibuster and a large yaller dog under the waggin. I say, in view of the mess we are makin' of things, it would have been better for us if Columbus had staid at home. It would have been better for the show bisness. The circulation of Vanity Fair would be larger and the proprietors would all have buzzum pins. Yes, sir—and perhaps a ten pin alley.

By which I don't wish to be understood as intimatin' that the scalpin' wretches who are in the injin bisnies at the present day are of any account, or calculated to make home happy, specially the Sioxes of Minnesoty, who deserve to be murdered in the first degree, and if Pope will only stay in St. Paul, and not go near em' himself, I reckon they will be.

Things in our town is workin'. The canal boat Lucy Ann called in here the [illegible]th day and reported all right on the Wabash. The Lucy Ann has adopted a new style of Binnikle light, in the shape of a red headed gal who sits up over the compass. It works well.

The artist I spoke about in my last has returned to Philadelphy. Before he left I took his lily white hand in mine. I suggested to him that if he could induce the citizens of Philadelphy to believe it would be a good idea to have white winder shutters on their houses, and white door stones, he might make a fortin. "It's a novelty," I added, "and may startle 'em at first, but they may conclood to adopt it."

As several of our public men are constantly being surprised with serenades I conclooded I'd be surprised in the same way, so I made arrangements accordin'. I asked the Brass Band how much they'd take to take me entirely by surprise with a serenade. They said they'd overwhelm me with a unexpected honor for seven dollars, which I excepted.

I wrote out my impromptoo speech several days beforehand, bein' very careful to expunge all ingramatticisms, and payin' particular attention to the punktooation. It was, if I may say it without egitism, a manly effort. But alas! I never delivered it, as the sekel will show you. I paced up and down the kitchen speakin' my piece over so as to be entirely perfeck. My bloomin' young daughter, Sarah Ann, bothered me summut by singin', "Why do summer roses fade?"

"Because," said I, arter hearin' her sing it about fourteen times, "because it's their biz! Let 'em fade."

"Betsy," said I, pausin' in the middle of the room and letting my eagle eye wander from the manuscrip, "Betsy, on the night of this here serenade, I desires you to appear at the winder dressed in white, and wave a lilly-white hankercher. D'ye hear?"

"If I appear," said that remarkable female, "I shall wave a lilly-white bucket of bilin' hot water, and somebody will be scalded. One bald heded old fool will get his share."

She refer'd to her husband. No doubt about it in my mind. But for fear she might exasperate me I said nothin'.

The expected night cum. At nine o'clock precisely there was sounds of footsteps in the yard, and the band struck up a lively air, which, when they did finish it, there was cries of "Ward! Ward!" I stept out onto the portico. A brief glance showed me that the assemblage was summut mixed. There was a great many ragged boys, and there was quite a number of grown up persons evidently under the affluence of the intoxicatin' bole. The band was also drunk. Dr. Schwazey, who was holdin' up a post, seemed to be particularly drunk—so much so that it had got into his spectacles, which were staggerin' wildly over his nose. But I was in for it, and I commenced thus:

"Feller Citizens: For this onexpected honor"

Leader of the Band—Will you give us our money now or wait till you get through?"

To this painful and disgustin' interruption I paid no attention.

" . . . for this onexpected honor I thank you."

Leader of the Band—But you said you'd give us seven dollars if we'd play two choons."

Again I didn't notice him, but resumed as follows: "I say I thank you warmly. When I look at this crowd of true Americans, my heart swells"

Dr. Schwazey—So do I!

A Voice—We all do!

—"my heart swells"

A Voice—Three cheers for the swells.

"We live," said I, "in troublous times but I hope we shall again resume our former proud position, and go on in our glorious career!"

Dr. Schwazey—I'm willin' for one to go in a glorious career. Will you join me, fellow citizens, in a glorious career? What wages does a man git for a glorious career when he finds himself?

"Dr. Schwazey," said I sternly, "you are drunk. You're disturbin' the meetin'."

Dr. Schwazey—Have you a banquet spread in the house? I should like a few rynossyross on the half shell, or a hippopotamus on toast or a horse and wagon roasted whole. Any thing that's handy. Don't put yourself out on my account.

At this pint the band begun to make hidyous noises with their brass horns, and a exceedingly ragged boy wanted to know if there wasn't to be some wittles afore the concern broke up? I didn't exactly know what to do and was just on the pint of doin' it, when a upper winder suddenly opened and a stream of hot water was brought to bear on the disorderly crowd, who took the hint and retired at once.

When I am taken by surprise with another serenade I shall, among other arrangements, have a respectful company on hand. So no more from me to day. When this you see remember me.

Secretary Chase states that the National debt is only $640,000,000, and $70,000,000 of this debt was left as a legacy by the Buchanan Administration.

Head Waters of Rogue River.

BLUE LAKE

On the afternoon of the 21st [illegible] we found ourselves a small party [illegible] winding our way up the Cascade range of mountains, about fifteen miles south of Diamond Peak, leaving behind us the Black Pine Desert of the Klamath Lake country, and ambitious to reach the summit in time to obtain a view of the promised land—the Rogue River Valley. Just below the summit aimed at, one of the highest points of the range, our course was changed by an unlooked for obstacle, and one that even the John Day party would [illegible] until Before us and at our feet lay a lake [illegible] surrounded on all sides by steep [illegible] perpendicular bluff banks, fall [illegible] that we were standing upon. The circumference of this lake we could not estimate at less than twenty five miles, and from the top of the banks down to the water not less than three thousand feet. At no place could we see the remotest chance of being able to climb down to the water without the aid of long ropes and tackle. Near the south end of the lake rises a butte island, several hundred feet high, and drifts of snow lay clinging to the [illegible] of the rocky banks. The waters were of a deep blue color, causing us to call it Blue Lake. It lays about one mile west from Mt Scott, fifteen miles south of Diamond Peak, and eighty miles northeast from Jacksonville. In the distance and in the low pass that connects the Klamath country with the head waters of Rogue River another lake was visible, not as large apparently, and accessible, bordering as it does, on a large prairie. From the banks of Blue Lake no outlet is visible, but on descending the west side of the mountain, which is densely covered with heavy hemlock timber, we found water gushing out and fine grass on what we called the water level of the lake, and following this level around the west and south sides, springs and small streams were crossed every few yards, the waters of which join together in the basin or valley below and form an important feeder to the North Fork of Rogue River; in fact, empty into it a volume of water equal in amount to one quarter of the whole river at the Table Rock Ferry.

UNION PEAK

Five miles south of the Blue Lake, on a spur of the Cascades, stands a high rocky peak, which we ascended to lay out our route down the almost unknown regions of the head waters of the river. Reaching the summit of this peak, after an hour of hard climbing up the loose rocky sides, with many a pause, when the wind blew the hardest, in order not to be blown off into the canyon below, we found ourselves standing on a space about ten feet by six, walled around carefully with loose rock to a height of three or four feet, evidently the work of Indians in olden time. Below us to the northwest, lay the large basin in which are collected the waters of the North Fork.—East of us, the gulches are just starting southward with the waters of the Middle Fork, and beyond the Cascades we looked down upon the waters of the Klamath Lakes, the deserts and prairies that we had so slowly toiled over last spring, Shasta Butte in full view to its base, Mt McLoughlin, seemingly, almost within reach, and down the river, dense forests covering the innumerable mountains and hills that form the west side of the Cascades. Beyond, in the southwest, lay the main valley, with Jacksonville snugly stowed away in the far corner, and all the view in this direction backed by the Siskiyou range, running either way as far as the eye could reach. Christening our standing place Union Peak, we scrambled down, mounted our animals and took our course for the forks. Union Peak can be seen from our town any clear day.

ROGUE RIVER FALLS

Fifty miles from Jacksonville, and just above the junction of the Middle Fork with the North Fork, the water of the Middle Fork makes a plunge down into a narrow rocky canyon some 250 feet perpendicular and still farther down, the large volume of water brought down by the North Fork, cuts its way through the solid rock and plunges out of sight. Our commissary department calling loudly for reinforcements, we were not able to fully explore the falls, as our hunting ground was some five miles distant. After swimming our animals across the North Fork, we camped on splendid grass, and the evening was passed in frying, broiling and roasting ribs and stakes from a fat buck, that we had "taken in out of the wet," a few hundred yards from camp.

ROAD

By cutting a trail from the forks to Blue Lake Basin, up the valley of the North Fork, a distance of twenty miles, the road is open and good from Jacksonville to the head waters of Des Chutes, on the old Dalles trail, and the distance will not exceed 100 miles to the point that, by the spring trail, was 175 miles—avoiding, also, almost the whole of the Klamath desert of black pine and pumice stone, with grass and water abundant, and no mountain to climb. By this route a wagon road can be cut through on to the Des Chutes by any one who is acquainted with the country, at a very small expense.

RELIEF OF NEURALGIA.—As this dreadful disease is becoming more prevalent than formerly, and as the doctors have not discovered any method or medicine that will permanently cure it, we simply state that for some time past a member of our family has suffered most intensely from it, and could find no sure relief from any remedy applied, until we saw an article, which recommended the application of bruised horse radish to the face, for toothache. As neuralgia and the toothache are both nervous diseases, we thought the remedy for the one would be likely to give relief to the other, so we made the application of horseradish bruised and applied to the side of the body where the disease was seated. It gave almost instant relief to the severe attack of neuralgia. Since then we have applied it several times, and with the same gratifying results. The remedy is simple, cheap, and may be within the reach of every one.

PRICES OF WOOL.—In these times of change and accidents the farmer [illegible] watch the course of events with care, [illegible] so that he cannot turn some of them to his own advantage. [illegible] instance, when [illegible] wool [illegible] oats were bringing twenty per cent more than they [illegible] manded for the last ten years—selling in small quantities at sixty cents per bushel, while good western corn was selling at [illegible] cents. Did the farmer observe this and shape his crop accordingly?

Now, the great demand for woolen cloths of various kinds to be made up into garments for the soldiers of the army [illegible] has raised the price of wool. [illegible] Philadelphia, various grades [illegible] [illegible] 000 lbs. [illegible] at [illegible] 2,000 lbs common [illegible] and [illegible] blood [illegible] [illegible]

Will it not be well for the farmer to look at this matter, and learn whether there is not something to be gained by him in the great changes that are now taking place?—New England Farmer.
